Post Office Notice.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 6, 1867. Horeafter, until further notice, the Northeastern Mails will close at 1.15 P. M., and arriving at the Depot at 9.45 A. M. will be ready for delivery at 11 o'clock. On Sundays the Post Office will open thue to close daily at 6 o'clock A. M., and for the Savannah and Charleston Railroad at 6 A. M. on Mondays, Wodnesdays and Fridays. STANLEY G. TROTT, P. M.

WE ARE indebted to Mr. MELCHERS, of the Con-tral News Dopot, No. 108 Market street, for late New York German papers.

FATHER O'NEIL AND HIS CO-LABOREIS .- The Sa vanual Republican says this vonerable and emi-nent prelate is improving in health, and likely to recover. He has reached seventy-seven years, all of which have been spent in the service of his Church in Georgia, South Carolina and Florida,
Father Duyau and Father Van Roosbuoecki have both been quito sick, but are nearly restored

CAVING IN OF A FIRE WELL.—The heavy rains of the past week caused the earth to absorb so much water that it became very soft and unstable. It was evidently this rush of water that caused the fire well in George street, opposite the College, to cave in. It now presents an ugly chasm, which has been boarded to prevent accidents. As the well was near the sidewalk, it renders that portion of the street impassable, and repairs should be im-

THE FARM AND GARDEN. -The first number of a pamphlet under this title is now upon our table and, on referring to it, we find that it is an "agricultural newspaper devoted to the improvement of our Southern farms." It is published monthly, at Clinton, S. C., by JAMES R. JACOBS & Co., and w are disposed to think will be found useful to far-mors and gardeners; and as the subscription is only one dollar a year, is certainly open to all who may desire information on the important subject

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—It will be perceived by an advertisement in another column that the hose reel, which the Firemen's Association of New York have presented to the Independent Fire Company of Columbia, will arrive in the city by the steamer to-morrow, and that it will be at the stere of Mr. WEITE, southwest corner of Meeting and Went worth stroots, where it can be viewed by the citi zons generally on Wednesday, and on that day committees from the different companies will es cort it to the railroad depot, when it will be shipped the fine body of men for whom it is intended. This is the reel which has been built in the plan en re-manufactured at an increased expense and with reference to greater beauty of style by the generous donors. An exhibition of it will, no doubt, draw a great crowd of visitors who will be such an elegant specimen of tha

A GALE IN JUNE.—After several days of unset A GALE IN JUNE.—After several days or unser-tied weather, the wind freshened to a gale from the northeast on Saturday last, at an early hour, blowing heaviest about seven or eight o'clock A. M., and moderating down about midday. The shipping in port rode out the gale without materi-al depans, and the piers along the city front sufo, and the piers along the city front suf-little. The steamers Phot Boy, from Savannah, and the Dictator from Florida, arrivos on Sanday. The Dictator experienced the gale in its early stages on her passage from Fernanding to Savannah, and rode out the latter portion is Savannah River. She reports the wind from the north to northwest, with a very high sea. Capt. CONSTRES saw a brig drag ashore near Ty-bee. The steamship Moneka, from Now York, which some persons were looking for yesterday, we are informed, did not start until Thursday, and the Falcon, from Baltimore, was probably detained in the Bay. They are both good ships, and both vessels may be expected to arrive safely, although they may meet with some destrains by they may meet with some detention by the he blow in June is so unusual an occurrence that it may be considered a strange event. We are informed that the last event of the kind took place about 1839 or 1840, when a severe gale took place in this month on the decline of the moon.

Sr. Marys Church.—Few persons have failed to notice the repairs that have been in progress on St. Mary's Church in Hasel street. These were pleted on Saturday, and the Church was open divino worship on yesterday, after an interval of nearly one month. Notwithstanding the cather a large audience collected, and threatening weather a large audience collected, and the improved appearance of the Church elicited has been painted the rich cream color, which has become so popular, and which is now generally adopted in this city. But the renovation is not confined to the outside, the interior has been remodeled until it is scarcely recognizeable with th past. The walls are now painted to rese grained marble, and the coiling is of a beautiful blue color, which at once at-tracts the eye by its pleasing hue. In the body of the Church the same improvements are noticed; the pews have been beautifully grained, and the mahogony arms and caps gliston with varnish. Over the chancel the ceiling is painted to resemble clouds at sunset, while im panicated to resemble clouds at squeet, while immediately under it hangs the large after printings of the crusifiction. This picture was painted by the late Colonel John S. Coodell, in 1889, to replace that lost at the great fire of 1838. It has been retouched and reguilded, and looks now like been retouched and reguided, and looks now like a new painting. The other ornaments in the chancel have been improved by the hands of the painter, and are in keeping with the general appearance of the Church. The painting was done by Mr. T. A. Brakish, and reflects great credit upon him; the pews, organ, and, indeed, the whole building being fine specimens of the decorative art. Measur. Swan & Francuson performed the carpenters work, and effected the different changes that are noticeable in the Church. Dr. R. S. Barre is the officialing pricet at St. Marris generals and the officiating pricet at St. Mary's, assisted by the Bev. O. B. NORTHBOP.

Sr. JOH N'S DAY.—The 24th of June has been se spart for the observance of the nativity of St. John the Baptist. It also enjoys the distinction g considered midsummer's day. The ob ses connected with the nativity of St. John ore commenced on the previous evening, called a usual, the eve or vigil of the festival, or Mid summer Eve. On that evening the people were accustomed to go into the woods and break down branches of trees, which they brought to their homee and planted over their doors, amidst great demonstrations of joy, to make good the Scrip-ture prophecy respecting the liaptist, that many should rejoice. This custom was universal in England until the recent change in manners. A number of superstitious notions were connected with St. John's Eve, and both in England and or the Continent it was formerly believed that by cer tain observances a glimpse of the future could be obtained. These fancies generally referred to love affairs, and the tuture husband, a lover's truth and other kindred matters, were foretold. The following version of a German poem, entitled, "The St. John's Wort," explains some of the notions provalent among the peasantry:

"The young maid stole through the cottage door.
And blushed as ahe sought the plant of power."
Thou silver glow-worm, oh lend mo thy light,
I must gather the mystle St. John's Wort to-night;
The wonderful herb whose leaf will decide
If the compay year will make me a bride."

The Evo of St. John is a great day among the Masons of Scotland. At Molroso the venerable Masons of Scotland. At moirose two venous abbey is the chief point of attraction and reserve. The whole extent of the abboy is, with measured stop, gone three times round, but whom near the finals the whole Masonic body gather to the changing the stop of the stop o ool, and form one grand semi-circle around i where the heart of Ronzar Bauoz lies deposited pear the high altar, and the band strikes up the patriotic air, "Scots who ha'e wi' Wallace blod!" Midsi showers of rockets and the glare of blue Midsi showers or rockets and the glare of blue lights the scene closes, and the offset produced is overpowering, reminding the beholder of some popular saturnalis held during the middle ages. By a practical bull, the observance of St. John's Day seems to be mainly confined to the previous ovening; but in the country, there has never been much importance attached to either, and revent much importance attached to either, and excepting in Masonic circles the day is unnoticed.

Conomica's Inquest.—Coronor Warriso held an ing brightly an hour later, and we went to sleep inquest yesterday over the body of a male colored with the expectation of soon seeing one more clear inquest yestorday over the body of a male colored infant, a few months of age, which was found in a well on a lot in Charlotte street, north side, near Washington. The body was first discovered by a negro boy, who at once informed the Coroner. The jury returned a verdict that the infant came to its death from some cause unknown.

rains have caused a wash at a culvert near Whites-ville, some thirty miles from Wilmington, and that the train from Wilmington for Kingeville, run into it, killing the engineer, Mr. Havn Buck-HEIDT, and seriously injuring several of the pas-sengers. We have been unable to obtain the full-particulars, but trust the accident and the less of life are both exagerated.

THE VERDIOT OF THE CORONER'S JURY IN THE LATE DURL.—We publish below a correct copy of the Coroner's verdict in the inquest held over the body of EDWARD A. Rog. The inquest was commenced at the Roper Hospital, and concluded the Coroner's office, where the Jury rendered the the Coroner's office, where the said of the same following verdict:

"That E. A. Rowe came to his doath by a wound inflicted in the right side by a ball from a pistol in the hands of T. G. Boag, on the 19th instant, at the Four Mile House, between two and three o'clock P. M., in a duel in which John Clancy and John T. "THE SOUTHERN OPINION."-H. RIVES POLLARD Esq., late of the Examiner, has brought out a new weekly paper, under the above title. In new weekly paper, under the above title. In typographical execution and general appearance it is one of the handsomest periodicals we have ever seen in the South. There is a vast deal of very interesting original matter in this first number, and if Mr. POLLARD can keep up to this mark, he need not fear a want of readers and subscribors. His purpose is "to preserve the memories; ombalm the noble deeds and sacrifices of the Confederate dead; to describe the various ceme teries wherein the lest ones of the South have been gathered, and the renown of the battle fields armice; to keep bright the altars of sacrifice that reach from Virginia to Toxas; to vindicate his countrymen, and to do justice to the Southern cause, and defend the honor and interests of her himself particularly to this work. He says: ""We have no desire to revive old fouds with the North.

We accept the new condition of affairs in good faith, and we advise the people of the South to con ply in good feeling with the requirements of the Military Bill. We are tired of turmell, confusion, and dissension." "The future helds out no better lerms for us than those offered in the Military lill, and we must accept those, or vorse will speedily folow. We have not yet fallen to the "lowest depth," for the sulphurous blasts of Stravens' lade reveal a hell of torture still held in reserve for us, to which what we endure now see by comparison, a heaven." "Our safety and the security of unborn generations can be secured only through the narrow defile of registration." THE MERMAID SELL.-The colored portion of our citizens were thrown into an intense state of excitement on Saturday by the announcement that a vertiable, gomuine and unmistakable mer-maid had been washed ashore at Chusolut's Mill, and was captured by the prince of the apothecaries, Dr. Thorr. Numbers repaired to the mills, but not finding the object of their search, returned to the shop, where they insisted on the maid of the sea being produced. Their curiosity was re-lieved by the amountement that the monster was confined in the cellar and was not propared for an introduction, but they lingered around the door, anxious to obtain a peop at the far-famed creature. At one time over 500 people were present, and mur-murs of indignation, both long and loud, were ut-tered against the hapless apothocary. The natu-ral superstitions of the race were aroused, and an ral superstitions of the race were aroused, and an old tar, who had crossed the line and had seen the lers of the deep, would have learnt a lesson in the art of telling yarns if he had mingled with the crowd. The tales of some old grandfather were repeated with the additions gained by their age, and mermaids were almost considere ments advanced by some of the fiction makers. Some James Island negroes, on learning the cause of the crowd, became very much excited and unged the party to resoue the mermaid and roturn her to the water. They alleged, as a reason for this conduct, that until it was done the sea would continu to mean, and the wind and rain would desolate the country and ruin the crops. Their importu-nities became so flerce that Mr. TROTT was forced to appears them by stating that the creature had to appears them by stating that the creature had been carried back to the water. This assertion quieted the crowd somewhat, but the excitement was not abated, and, on Sunday, a crowd of small negroes were gathered around the drug store, nxiously pooring in the key hole. We seldem remember a hear that has taken se well, and in which so many people were victim ized. The darkles firmly believed in the existence of the mermaid, and were only anxions to obtain a glimpse of the wenderful creature. We doubt if they are yet satisfied with the result, and if the bad weather should continue they will swear that it was osused by the unlawful detention of the mermaid from her native element.

The Weathes.—This topic has been so often attended to that it is difficult to present it in an attractive form, but the persevering character of the rains of last week entitle them to some notice. Day after day and night; after night, have the floods descended until patience has been exhausted and forbearance has ceased to be a virtue. The oldest inhabitant dock not represented. oldest inhabitant does not remember a more con-tinued spell of was weather, while in the country the farmers are brooding over their troubles and comparing the present to the time of the great Harrison freshet. So far, we have received no accounts of any great damage being done to the crops; but the country is everywhere under water, and serious apprehensions are felt that the grow-ing cotton and corn will be inflired. Fortunately the wheat has been nearly all harvested, and only the wheat has been nearly all harvested, and only a small perfect was lest by the overflowing of the lands. There were many runors, in the city yesterday of freshels in various parts of the State, which had carried away bridges and inflicted other damages upon property, but upon examination they were found to be incorrect, as passengers from the interior reported no freshets or any destruction of bridges.

The fury of the storm was doubtless extended along the coast, and in the city the damages done along the coast, and in the city the damages done in the upper districts is comparatively slight. The wind which accompanied the rain proved to be very destructive to property, and houses were un-repoted, trees and fences blown down, and a general scattering of leaves created. The tin roof of the new Custom House was rolled up and blown a dis ance of several hundred feet. One of the der tance or several hundred feet. One of the der-ricks was also blown down, and falling upon a cow killed the unfortunate animal. In different parts of the city trees were blown, down, limbs torn off, and the streets strewed with leaves. In Legare streets huge limb was broken from a tree by the force of the storm and the passers by were astonished to see a large bee hive in the fracings. The little inscets were rudely disturbed, many of them were killed, and their home rendered tenantiess by the accident. Although the hive had the appear ance of being quite old, no one had noticed it be fore it was so rudely exposed to view. Yestorday the san struggled through the clouds and chicard us by the warmth of his rays, but at 8 o'clock the clork of the weather again turned the spirot, and we were treated to what we sincertly

GENTLEMEN: I used, during the past scason, one of "Ingersolt" Portable Cotton Presses," purchased of you nat September. I have always been prejudiced in favor of the "Screw Press," and nothing brit dire necessity induced me to try any other. I take pleasure, however, in adding my testimony in favor of its entire adaptation to the wants of a cotton plantation. It has enrysased my most sanguine oxpectations. I have packed with but two hands, yet I prefer four—two at each lever. My bales all weighted over 500 lbs. The first lot I sent to a packed over 500 lbs. The first lot I sent to for pounds subject the follow-block to too much risk, unless "he sides of the cotton box was increased. It would said greatly to the value of the Press if the cotton box was ten inches longer. In haste, I am, vary respectfully, was ten inches longer. YORNYLLE, S. C., April 15, 1867.

GENTLEMEN: I have just received your letter of February 14th—spon my return to this place, after an absence of two months—and this reply may be too late for your "Descriptive Circular of Ingersoli's Cotton Press."

The Press I used in packing my cotton last year worked admirably, packing, with ease from 500 to 625 lbs. With good active hands to work it, I am satisfied that from eighteen to twenty bales might readily be packed in a day.

This Press combines the "Ivantages of lightness, and consequent pertability and simplicity (being easily manyold by any one of ordinary intelligence). Great company of the use of the ordinary intelligence, or and "last, but not least," it is work little motive, power, and "last, but not least," it is work little motive, power, and "last, but not least," it is work little motive, power, and "last, but not least," it is work little motive, power, and "last, but not form increase the last needy by hand, thus saying for the farm hores the last needy by hand, thus saying for the farm hores the last needy by hand, thus saying for the farm hores the last needy by hand, thus saying for the farm hores the last of the proposed upon thom by "Respectfully, &c., youre,"

SHEFFIELD SCIENTIFIO SCHOOL,

EXCHMERATIO DATAINTERT,

LEAGURERING DETAINTERT,

I have always recommended the Faber Polygrade Lead Pencils as the only pencils fitted for both ornamental and mathematical drawing; but, after a thorough trial of the American Polygrade Lead Pencils, manufactured by the american Lead Pencil Company, Not York, I find them superior to any pencil in use, even to the Faber or the old English Cumberland Lead Pencil, being a superior pencil for electhing, ornamental and mochanical drawing, and all the ordinary uses of a lead pencil. pencil.

Those pencils are very finely graded and have a very smooth lead; even the softest pencils hold the point well; they are all that can be desired in a pencil. It gives me great pleasure to be able to assure Americans that they will no longer be compelled to depend upon Germany or any other foreign market for pencils.

Land on King street, near Line. BY JACOB COHEN & CO.

A Private Salo—
A LOT OF LAND, in the city of Charleston, containing about nine 0) acres, eitunted in King street, inuncilately north of Line, and extending from King street to the South Carolian Rathroad track.

This Land offers great inducements for sub-division into building lots, on account of its contignity to the South Carolina Railroad yards and work shops, and its location on King street and the South Carolina Railroad track. It is also very desirable for farming, being now in cultivation, and the soil much improved by culture, For terms and further particulars, apply as above, at 100.40 EAST BAY, COR. BOYCE'S WHARP.
